

TERRACORPS

Formerly MassLIFT-AmeriCorps

2017 Youth Engagement Coordinator Position Opening with Grow Food Northampton

TerraCorps, formerly MassLIFT-AmeriCorps, is an innovative national service program helping communities conserve and secure land for the health and well-being of people and nature. Using the AmeriCorps national service model, TerraCorps prepares and mobilizes emerging leaders to help strengthen community-based nonprofits working to meet these goals.

This year's TerraCorps program will support thirty-six full-time AmeriCorps members, serving in one of four positions: Land Stewardship Coordinator (LSC), Regional Conservation Coordinator (RCC), Community Engagement Coordinator (CEC), and Youth Education Coordinator (YEC). Members will serve in full-time, eleven-month positions (August 28th, 2017- July 27, 2018) in which they complete at least 1,700 hours of service with one of our partner organizations. Members receive a living allowance, education award, and additional AmeriCorps benefits (see full list at end of announcement).

Grow Food Northampton will host a Youth Engagement Coordinator for the 2017-18 service year. Information about all TerraCorps positions is available at terracorps.org.

Grow Food Northampton's mission is to promote food security by advancing sustainable agriculture in the Northampton, Massachusetts area. Founded in 2010 in response to a development threat to the largest buildable prime farmland parcels in Northampton, Grow Food Northampton moved from a small group of advocates to a vibrant, community-driven non-profit organization. We now own the largest community farm in Massachusetts, which is largely leased out to private farmers, helping to address land access and tenure challenges. We also manage a 270-plot community garden and a Giving Garden project where volunteers grow many thousands of pounds of vegetables for donation to soup kitchens and food pantries. We operate educational programs on the farm and in classrooms, fund and manage several food access programs that ensure that everyone in our community can afford to eat local produce, and manage a vibrant local farmers' market. All of our programs celebrate local food as a way to build a stronger, more sustainable, and more inclusive community.

Youth Education Coordinators (YEC) build the long-term capacity of their host site by engaging youth in service learning, experiential education, and inquiry-based science and nature learning projects. They collaborate with schools, libraries, and youth groups on projects that connect young people to the natural world, improve science literacy, and encourage healthy lifestyles.

YECs may help their host site to engage with educators and volunteers to guide youth in environmental inquiry and discovery, school and community garden projects, urban tree stewardship projects, urban pocket park projects, and “green jobs” training and internship programs. By serving with youth in an outdoor learning environment, they reinforce the connection between people, nature, and community and foster an inclusive land stewardship ethic in future generations.

TerraCorps members engage with their supervisors to develop and carry out three or more capacity building projects over the course of the service year. Some of these projects will involve recruiting, training, and/or managing community volunteers. Grow Food Northampton has proposed the following potential projects for their Youth Education Coordinator:

- 1) Design, refine, and implement a year-long series of opportunities for public elementary school students to learn about local farms and food, including: coordinate and lead fall field trips to Crimson and Clover farm; pilot in-class workshops where students will get the chance to cook and eat the vegetables they harvested at the farm; design and coordinate a series of food-related winter workshops on topics relating to healthy eating, earth science, and sustainable agriculture; and coordinate and lead spring field trips to Grow Food Northampton’s Giving Garden and Community Garden. This project addresses a need for youth exposure to the local food system that is reinforced over time through multiple points of exposure that are age- and curriculum-appropriate and that create memorable experiences. Our goal is to reach at least 1,000 students an average of four times per school year, and ultimately to develop a generation of youth of all economic backgrounds who feel a strong sense of agency in regard to the local food system, actively supporting the existence of local farms and food.

Development of these and other projects will occur during the first two months of service and consider the member’s interests and skills.
